STEAM VALVE DEFECTIVE, IS CAUSE GIVEN

Street Cars, Lights and Everything Out of Business

Trouble which arose when a steam inlet valve of the newly installed 10,000 K.W. turbo-generator went out of commission shortly before 9:30 a.m. today indirectly brought about a breakdown in both the electric power and the pumping station.

Just at a time when a heavy demand was being made upon the pumping system due to a fire which broke out in the office building of the Edmonton Journal.

It was necessary to stop the turbine engine and the generator, and the city engineer, Mr. J. Cunningham, superintendent of the city power plant, was called to the scene.

Around the Town

BY W. A. DE GRAVE

"Edmonton is the best dressed city in the Dominion," declared a Montreal clothing man yesterday. And he ought to know, because clothing is the line he has chosen.

"Take a look at the people you meet in the streets here or in the city at the railroad depot, he has to admit, as he says, 'where' he said, 'and you'll find that the people here are better dressed than anywhere else in the Dominion.'"

Apparently he had taken in the New Year's eve celebration at the Macdonald and then gone on to the city of Montreal, for he was certainly an authority on the subject of clothing.

REAL ESTATE STARTS BRISK IN NEW YEAR

Rumor of New and Large Hotel Is Very Insistent

Edmonton is starting the New Year with signs that real estate will be active in the downtown section.

One of the first deals of the year reported was the sale of the Monarch theatre, with a frontage of 60 feet on Jasper avenue, to Mr. Alvin Kaiter, who had been operating the Monarch, for some time.

Although the purchase price has not been divulged, it is stated to be well up into five figures.

AT THE PANTAGES

Theatregoers who enjoy a comedy of real life, sprinkled with touches of genuine action, have a distinct treat in store for them this week at the Pantages Theatre where "What Anne Brought Home" will be presented by the Gordinier Players. Performance will be given every evening this week, with matinees on Thursday and Saturday.

The thing that Anne brought home was a husband and it wasn't the kind of a husband that the family had expected. Anne had been married for a long time, but she had never been married to a man who was so different from the others.

"The Beggar's Opera" is a London revival. It is to be heard here at the Empire Theatre with the original London company. It is a play of over four solid years at the Theatre, in London. "The Beggar's Opera" was written by John Gay and John Rich at the Theatre, in London.

Two Americans disguised as British highlanders enlist as aviators at a French airport, and are sentenced to death as German spies.
Only Wallace Deery and Raymond Hatton could appear to advantage in such a ridiculous situation. And they do so in "Two We're in the Air," the Paramount comedy which will be shown at the Empress for the last three nights. The official pictures of the hilarious antics of the two stars are an added attraction.

Victorian Order to Benefit Materially By New Year's Dance

Florence Nightingale Auxiliary Contributes to Organization

Of all the gay festivities in Edmonton, which, over the weekend, marked the advent of 1928, probably none was so far-reaching as that of the Florence Nightingale Auxiliary, which, through its joy dance at Glenora Club, raised more than one hundred and twenty five dollars, which will be devoted to the needs of the Victorian Order of Nurses in this city.

Kindly Thought
There lay behind the galaxy and glamor of the carousal New Year's Eve, the thought, with every man and woman who attended the dance, that something worth more while lay behind the effort and the expenditure of the affair.

New Year Babies
And while, and the cheery, empty mingled like a happy, happy, and salutations to the New Year were heard on every side, Edmonton's Victorian Order of Nurses was busy on duty and in the dawn of 1928, two baby infants were safely tucked away in their bassinets, and two babies were the happier because of the little ones.

Children Happier
Sixty six children received through the Florence Nightingale Auxiliary, gift-parcels and comforts, the day before Christmas, a generous cheque, received by a director of the Victorian Order, provided additional happiness for little children, and on Christmas Eve, after a strenuous shopping tour, the turned out might have been seen before hours where the family purse had been strained to the breaking point.

Not Forgotten
One little girl who had not heart on a doll's face, would not mark the organization in this city.

'NOT GUILTY,' SAYS HICKMAN TO ACCUSERS

Superior Court Guarded by Posse With Guns and Tear Bombs

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 4.—A plea of not guilty was entered in the superior court here Tuesday by William Edward Hickman, accused kidnaper and slayer of Marian Parker.

The prisoner was marched under a armed guard into the court room of Superior Judge Charles Hardy, while deputy sheriffs with tear bombs stood ready to quell any demonstration. Hickman, at the first time since his attempted escape after his capture at Henderson, Ore., wore a collar and tie. The youth pleaded not guilty to both the charges of kidnapping and murder, qualifying his denial by asking for the murder accusation "by reason of insanity."

He understood
Asked if he understood that the plea was an admission of guilt, the court asked him to qualify with the contention that he was insane at the time of the crime. He replied "Yes, I am." He further denied the application of Jerome Walsh, attorney for the prosecution, to have the plea set aside on the ground of insanity.

Walsh asked 35 days for the decision of proof of the insanity of his client. This time the necessary witnesses and establish a plea of insanity.

Throughout the proceedings the prisoner sat with his hands except when called upon to reply to questions from the bench. He looked him at the rear of the court room, sat Perry (Bill) Parker, the brother of the victim, and the other members of the family.

After the plea Judge Hardy started to read an affidavit of the jury, but the court was interrupted by the request for further delay. This was denied, and Judge Walsh addressed Walsh in the court.

"You have no names of persons in your affidavit and you did not show what you intended to prove by it."

Hickman's trial was set for January 17.

Of Responsible Age
Hickman, who is 21 years of age, was charged with the murder of Marian Parker, a 19-year-old girl, who was found dead in a rooming house in Los Angeles, Cal., on October 10, 1927.

In his affidavit asking for the trial to be held in the city of Los Angeles, Judge Walsh stated that Hickman, who was under 21 at the time of the crime, was a minor and that the court would permit him to be tried in the city of Los Angeles.

Although Hickman's plea legally leaves the question of his insanity for the court to decide, attorneys connected with the case said the whole story of the gruesome crime would be unraveled in the process of determining the young slayer's sanity.

Attorneys pointed out that the boy was of legal age at the time of the crime, and that the court would permit him to be tried in the city of Los Angeles.

Walsh Hickman was being assigned the county grand jury returned today a verdict of guilty on the charge of kidnapping and murder.
